Parivartan' – The Slum Education Programme : Donation of Blankets

They were found sleeping with their knees stuck to their chests, they were found coiled on the seat of their ramshackle rickshaws, they were found sleeping on the pavements with a thin and torn linen on them failing to cover their body and they were found struggling to sleep in the shivering chilling night. The task of collecting cash clothes as donations by faculty members, staff and students of ITS, Ghaziabad had gone over by the afternoon of 4th January, 2014. Prof. Gopal Krishna Dwivedi and Parivartan volunteer Ravi Prasad went to Swadeshi Khadi Bhandar, Surya Nagar (Raghunath Mandir) from where they bought 35 good quality blankets. Since traffic was heavy and beneficiaries were not traceable in the evening, the Parivartan Team decided to accomplish the task around midnight. Volunteers started around 11:00 pm with Prof. Dwivedi, covering almost all directions and corners of the city from Dilshad Garden to Lal Kuan, EDM Mall to Meerut Road (Duhai), Karehda village, Nandgram road, Sahibabad Railway Station, Ghaziabad Railway Station, Ghantaghar, Delhi Gate, Ramte Ram Road, Sahibabad Naveen Mandi Sthal, Anand Vihar ISBT, Vasundhara, Vaishali, Kaushambi, Lohia Nagar, Patel Nagar, New Bus Stand Ghaziabad, Old Bus Stand Ghaziabad and various other places of the city. When the volunteers finished the task, it was already 4 a.m. The most touching scene was at the Sahibabad railway station where a hopeless old person aged around 65 was struggling to sleep with a half sweater on his body and a short thin shawl. The moment Parivatan Volunteers approached him, he suddenly sprang up in surprise and happiness and held the feet of the volunteers before they could understand anything. The blessing murmured by him after receiving the blanket and a full sweater lingered on in the air for long.

'Parivartan' – The Slum Education Programme :Donation of Clothes

5th January, 2014 was perhaps the most memorable day in the history of the 'Parivartan', the Slum Education Programme, a CSR initiative of ITS, Ghaziabad. Armed with a huge collection of clothes donated by the faculty, staff and students of ITS, Ghaziabad, Parivartan volunteers Ravi Prasad, Mashooq Ahmad Malik, Shayan Das Gupta, Subhajit Mitra, Anuj, Pooja Singh, Vinod Kumar, Kritika, Ishan and Tarun reached the Vasundhara slums with a van overloaded with the collected clothes. The children in the slum worked like hot-line messengers and within minutes the news got spread like the jungle fire. Children, adults and ladies started pouring in from all directions with their eyes wide open and full of curiosity and hope. Tokens were distributed by the volunteers and the distribution began. A long train of expectants, whispering, shouting, struggling and pushing was being noticed by the passersby also. Parivartan volunteers had already categorized the clothes after collecting them from donors. Sorting took place in the boys' hostel of

ITS where active volunteers and their friends finished the mountain high task in minutes. This made the distribution easy and systematic. We started with the children's woolen clothes, followed by children's cotton clothes, adults woolen, adults cotton, shawls, bed-sheets and ladies clothes.

We had also collected some good quality coats and blazers which were distributed at the end to those who kept waiting eagerly till the end. The happiness on the faces of the recipients and the satisfaction on the faces of the volunteers were obvious and lasting. Parivartan team was happy that it could convey the generous donations to the appropriate people at the appropriate time. Prof. Gopal Krishna Dwivedi guided and accompanied the volunteers right from collection to the distribution.

'Parivartan' – The Slum Education Programme

12th January, 2014 activity of 'Parivartan', the Slum Education Programme, a CSR initiative of ITS, Ghaziabad was a gala day for the ladies dwelling in the slums of Vasundhara, Ghaziabad. When we distributed 4 big sacs full of clothes on 5th January, 2014, a big sac full of ladies clothes was still left with us because of shortage of time and the space in the van. So this Sunday, it was turn for the ladies in the slums. Besides, we had also received some more clothes from UG-PG faculty members to be donated. Finally we took one big sac and two big bags full of clothes to the slum this Sunday.

PGDM student volunteers Anuj, Vinod, Kumar, Mashooq Ahmad Malik, Chhatoi Rakesh Taunk and Ravi Prasad started the class with the recitation of table of six in Hindi and English both and repeatedly. Then the best repetitions were awarded with on the spot prizes (cookies). Soon after this we informed them about the due distribution of clothes and in minutes the children formed a long train along with their parents who were instantly invited by them through loud and shrill calls. Soon the distribution of clothes got over and we came to routine distribution of biscuits and chocolates. Children also received bread-rusks donated by volunteer Anuj. Faculty coordinator Prof. Gopal Krishna Dwivedi accompanied and motivated the volunteers as usual.

‘Parivartan’ – The Slum Education Programme

19th January, 2014 activity of ‘Parivartan’, the Slum Education Programme, a CSR initiative of ITS, Ghaziabad started in the chilly gusts and the slum children enjoyed sitting packed in the crowd. Strong-willed PGDM student volunteers Preeti Kumari, Ayushi Jain, Sumati Garg, Pooja Singh, Aman Singhal, Chhatoi Rakesh Taunk, Shayan Das Gupta and Ravi Prasad started the class with the table of 6 recited and practiced in Hindi and English both. They also revised the previously learnt lessons and conducted a quiz to check the previous lessons. Five active children won on the spot prizes for the maximum responses. This was followed by the interesting poem practice session. The class ended with the distribution of biscuits and chocolates among the children. Some of the children and their parents also expressed their gratitude for the clothes that they had received from ‘Parivartan’ volunteers on the previous turns.
